

Fair Trade Coffee House, 2004

Fair Trade Coffee House is independently owned and serves up fair trade certified coffee and espresso along with panini sandwiches, soups and house-made pastries and desserts. Established in 2004, Fair Trade Coffee house is conveniently located at 418 State Street in downtown Madison. Just a couple of blocks down from the Capital Square and Overture Center and only two blocks up from UW-Madison we are at the heart of State Street and cater to a fun-loving, fast-paced, and ever-changing downtown crowd.

Mission

100% of coffee beans, including all espresso is fair trade certified. What does that mean to you? Maybe a little, maybe a lot. For farmers it means a partner in the coffee business that has their back. Will support them when prices are up or prices are down. Brings agricultural expertise to the field when sudden challenges arise, like leaf rust that is currently devastating crops all over Mexico and Central America. We don't just buy our beans, we are a full-on committed partner to our roaster, Equal Exchange, and small farmers to insure that everyone wins in this crazy system called capitalism. And that includes you... who can so effortlessly support small coffee farmers and their families by simply enjoying a delicious cup of coffee or a creamy, caramelly double espresso at Fair Trade Coffee House. Think before you drink!
